Manchester Terror Plot Reaches Court

- Rahman Salehi, 34, and Salam Ahmadyan, 36, appeared in Westminster Magistrates' Court on Saturday charged with preparing terrorist acts over an alleged Tehran-directed chlorine-bomb plot against Manchester's Jewish community. — Reuters
- Prosecutor Mark Luckett alleged both men were in contact with a third party, also an Iranian national and most likely operating from within Iran, who directed the attack planning and supplied instructions for a homemade device made from chlorine and brake fluid. — Reuters
- The alleged targets included the Manchester Jewish Museum and the Heaton Park synagogue, and the men carried out hostile surveillance on September 20 at the start of Yom Kippur; both entered Britain by small boat, and Iran has denied involvement. No pleas were entered and both were remanded to the Old Bailey on October 23. — Reuters
- Home Secretary Shabana Mahmood said Britain faces serious threats from the Iranian regime, often through proxies and criminal networks. — Reuters

Fairford Plot Suspect Released on Bail

- The dual British-Iranian national arrested over the suspected Iran-linked plot against RAF Fairford was released on police bail on Saturday while the investigation continues, police said. — Reuters
- Britain has said Iran was believed to be involved in the suspected plot against the airbase the United States has used for raids on Iran; Tehran called the allegation baseless, and British counterterrorism police stress the Manchester allegations are not connected to Fairford. — Reuters

Iraq Sends Its Own Crude Through Hormuz

- Iraq's state-owned Oil Tanker Company transported two million barrels of Iraqi crude through the Strait of Hormuz aboard a VLCC on Saturday, its director general Ali Qais Abdul Jabbar said, the company's first such operation in decades. — Reuters
- Abdul Jabbar said Iraq had secured Iranian permission for the transit and framed it as giving state marketer SOMO more sales and pricing flexibility, shipping beyond Hormuz instead of selling FOB Basra; the company is pursuing its own VLCC purchases. — Reuters

Third Carrier Buildup — Post-Midterm Strike Talk

- President Trump told aides he expects to resume bombing Iran after the November 3 midterm elections, U.S. officials told the Wall Street Journal, a new window on the administration's planning behind the third-carrier buildup. — WSJ
- The USS Theodore Roosevelt strike group could relieve or replace the USS George Washington in theater, officials said, meaning the three-carrier picture in the region is not guaranteed to last. — WSJ

Markets

- Brent crude settled at $102.25 a barrel on Friday, October 2, down 0.06 percent as traders weighed the G7 fuel-release news. — WSJ
- U.S. West Texas Intermediate settled at $91.11 a barrel on Friday, down 1.9 percent on the day. — WSJ
- The U.S. national average diesel price was $6.382 a gallon in the week ended September 28, down nearly 15 cents from the week before, according to the U.S. Energy Information Administration. — WSJ
- The 10-year U.S. Treasury yield closed Friday at about 5.28 percent, retreating from a 24-year high of 5.3445 percent earlier in the session. — Reuters
